

56 Magnificent Things To Do In Miami This November

Get ready for the holidays, Miami!

BIANCA MARCOF - STAFF WRITER · NOVEMBER 1, 2022

NightGarden Miami

GET US IN YOUR INBOX

Sign up to our newsletter for the latest and greatest from your city

E-mail SUBSCRIBE

I accept terms & conditions

LATEST POSTS

A Party Like None Other Is Coming To Club M2 & Tickets Are Still Available

OCTOBER 17, 2023

This Magical Snow Carnival Is Coming To Miami For The First Time Ever

OCTOBER 17, 2023

This Experience Based On The Book 'The Little Prince' Is Now Open In Miami

OCTOBER 17, 2023

The spooky season is now officially over and many of us have already pulled out the tinsel and Santa hats. With the holidays slowly creeping upon us, there's still plenty to do in in Miami to enjoy the remainder the fall season before it ends and the cheerful Christmas decor goes up. Check these out!

21. See captivating artwork during Miami Art Week

Kyle Wavra

Art lovers make sure to mark your calendars for Miami Art Week 2022! Returning November 29 to December 4, the Magic City is set to explode with public art, pop-up projects, installations and fairs. Here are some events and installations to expect, but stay tuned for more:

- Wynwood's first hotel, the 9-story Arlo, is partnering with artist Brooke Einbender on an installation called "The Unknown Zone." It will feature "mind-bending" installations that bridge the physical and digital realms, including Einbender's mixed-reality reclaimed door installations layered with cutting-edge technology. The exhibition opens Tuesday, Nov. 29, and will be complimentary to visitors.
- The Shelborne South Beach is welcoming contemporary Korean artist Rosanna Kalis for a special activation in the hotel's Oasis Garden, where you'll currently find the 2 Korean Girls pop-up restaurant. Art installations will transform the space with new murals, hanging clouds, and digital screens showcasing art and K-pop music videos. Rosanna's paintings and custom sneakers will be installed in the hotel's interior to flow toward the entrance to the pool deck.
- On Nov. 29, the Ritz-Carlton, South Beach, will host a concert in partnership with the Miami Symphony Orchestra to celebrate seven decades of iconic Miami history, arts, and culture. As part of the performance, 3D-printed instruments by Eric Goldemberg and Veronica Zalcborg of MONAD Studio, in collaboration with Scott F Hall, will be played by orchestra members.

Sign up to our newsletter for the latest and greatest from your city

SUBSCRIBE

I accept terms & conditions

LATEST POSTS

A Party Like None Other Is Coming To Club M2 & Tickets Are Still Available

OCTOBER 17, 2023

This Magical Snow Carnival Is Coming To Miami For The First Time Ever

OCTOBER 17, 2023

This Experience Based On The Book 'The Little Prince' Is Now Open In Miami

OCTOBER 17, 2023

