Back for the 20th year, Art Basel is here, and it's nearly impossible to not feel the excitement in the air—along with the traffic on the streets. One of the busiest weeks of the year, Miami is about to be filled with art pop-ups, live paintings, parties, and satellite fairs that together make up what's now known as Miami Art Week.

The actual Art Basel Miami Beach show takes place at the Miami Beach Convention Center, but the massive annual art fair isn't the only place you can experience the action. Other notable art fairs to check out this week include SCOPE Miami Beach, CONTEXT Art Miami, Design Miami, Untitled Art Miami Beach, and Art Miami.

If you're looking for something to do that's a little more intimate than one of the sprawling art fairs, you won't have to look far. Here's a list of (mostly) free events that are open to the public during the course of this year's Miami Art Week.

Enter The Unknown Zone with Brooke Einbender at Arlo Wynwood

The recently opened Arlo Wynwood has partnered with pioneering "phygital" (physical + digital) artist Brooke Einbender to host "The Unknown Zone," an immersive art experience during Miami Art Week. The hotel will feature mind-bending installations that bridge the physical and digital realms, including Einbender's mixed-reality reclaimed door installations layered with cutting-edge technology. The free exhibition opens Tuesday, November 29 and will be on display through the end of December. The opening event, which takes place from 5 to 9 pm, will feature an artist talk with Brooke Einbender and Paloma Rodriguez of SuperRare. It, too, is free and open to the public. RSVP here.
